I am not even sure what month it is, September maybe? Well anyway, insert some witty comment about the season at your leisure—as I have no desire to do so. Here at InterAct, we've been rather busy wading through all of the back-to-school releases and hacking up a storm. We are so busy that we had to liberate a "Code Master" from the GameShark Code Creators Club and give him a proper job here as my willing slave-boy. So aside from the daily beatings, he increases our code production considerably. We're just not going to put any of those codes in print. In the next issue, you should see a much larger code section, and a much smaller CodeBoy section, as I tend to ramble about absolutely nothing just to fill the page properly.

Oh yeah, new things are on the way this fall. The DexDrive will be hitting the shelves soon! This little item allows anyone with Internet access to swap their favorite saves, teams, or recipes. All of you sports fanatics can now have proper fantasy leagues—no betting please. Hopefully major software companies will even provide special features, teams, or characters for you to download. It's in the works—keep an eye out for the DexDrive.

I'm not even going to bother mentioning the T-shirt in this issue. Instead, I'll tell you about a great game. If you haven't heard of Tenchu yet, put down this newsletter and punch yourself. Okay, just sit right back and I'll tell you a tale, a tale of a fine, fine game. Oops, the Gilligan's Island theme song was creeping up. Tenchu is a Tomb Raider-like adventure game mixed with Bushido Blade's combat feel. Basically, you sneak around like an angry SpiderMan, and drop in on hopefully unsuspecting guards, dogs, samurai or whatever. Then you get to remove their heads. It has that comfortable, sneaky feeling with truly impressive AI(Artificial Intelligence) that made GoldenEye such a pleasure to play. Definitely check this game out—it must be played! There's nothing better than a comfortable GameShark T-shirt to wear while playing such a masterpiece of gaming. Sorry, had to fit it in somehow. Send a $12.00 check or money order to: InterAct Accessories, Inc., ATTN: HMMM, 10999 McCormick Road, Hunt Valley, MD 21031. We will gladly charge all shipping fees to that guy over there. He doesn't even know.

This month's letters column will feature letters from our Rant page at www.gameshark.com.

Dear CodeBoy ,

Your rant page rulz. Okay, here is my question. Is it possible to get a virus on to your Nintendo64, memory pak or even a game from using the new DexDrive? Please answer soon or post this.

-Reader

Reader,

Fortunately the worst thing you could come into contact with using the DexDrive is a game save that claims to give you infinite credits, but actually drains your bank account within seconds and runs up your phone bill with 900 number calls. I mean no, there is no possible way to damage, delete or otherwise jeopardize your goods. The save files are only saved data. No executable files or programs can be stored or transferred with the unit.

Dear CodeBoy,

With the upcoming release of the DexDrive, would it be possible for sports game publishers, such as Acclaim and EA Sports, to make a football game for '99 and release new rosters on the internet for the subsequent seasons? For example, Acclaim releases NFL QBC '99 in September of this year, then in September of '99, they could release the new teams and players for next season.

Also, I saw a little Quest 64 GameShark add-on (SharkByte) that you just plug into the controller to set codes and levels. I think that is an awesome idea!!! Do you make SharkBytes for any other games? Will you make any for future games? Please respond and thank you for your time.

-Reader

Reader,

Game developers could release seasonal information, but with advancements in programming from year to year, new games are generally changed in more ways than just rosters. However, software developers will be able to release new information quickly—like trades, injuries, and in the case of Darryl Strawberry, rehab visits.
Fantasy leagues are now possible between friends on the Internet as well.

The Quest 64 SharkByte memory card is a stand-alone product that gives access to many levels, boosted stats, and extra items. We currently have a SharkByte for MK4, and are working with almost all of the major software companies for future SharkBytes.

Dear CodeBoy,

Subject: Virtual Chess 64

Could you find some codes for that?

-Reader

Dear Reader,

I'm thinking that maybe chess isn't the game for you. Sure I could hack codes for the game, but there are certain moral boundaries I just cannot pass. My advice: skip Mai Jong 64 and grab Yoshi's Story.

Hey Code Boy,

Are you as good as they say you are? If you are, tell me all your secrets on the codes you make. Also, tell me what this "Must Be On!" code means.

-Matt "The Great Game Player!"

Matt,

If you want to know my secret, you'll have to eat my sandwich. Now for the second, and slightly more insightful part of this double-header—the "Must Be On" code, bear with me, must be on for the GameShark to work with that specific game. I knew we shouldn't have named the code something so cryptic as "Must Be On." Well Matt, "The Great Reasoner" you may not be, but with this new knowledge you may continue to be "The Great Gamer."

mÜ§i© tO ÅVõiD @t áLL CØsTs.

Though this is getting into your paws about two months after its release, I thought it necessary to inform all of the new CD from Fire Water—"The Ponzi Scheme." There's nothing like a guy hung up on his ex for the past, oh, say for ten years to put you in that special, feel-good mood. This album is a little more on the rock side as compared to their Tom Waites-influenced debut. It's another fine installment of misery from the same man who brought you "Cop Shoot Cop."
If that's not enough, check out the new release from Reptilian Records (www.reptilianrecords.com), a tribute album to AC/DC. Top billings include The Dwarves, Supersuckers and possibly Buzz.oven. Oh my.

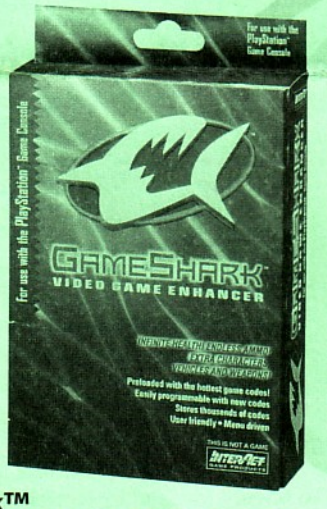
V3 Racing Wheel™

PlayStation, Nintendo 64, and PC

Cars have a steering wheel and foot pedals. So, it only makes sense to play driving games with a steering wheel and foot pedals, right? Incredible control and incredible realism come packed in every wheel. PlayStation® compatible V3 Racing Wheel™ is licensed by Sony®.

BackPak™

Carry your system in style. This cool carrying case has plenty of room for your system, games, accessories and whatever else you might need on your journey. Not only will you look good, you'll feel good knowing that your system is safe and close to your heart. Strap it to your back and get to where you're going.



GameShark™

PlayStation, Nintendo 64, GameBoy, PC

When we say ABUSE THE POWER, we aren't even scratching the surface of what the GameShark allows you to do. Hidden levels, characters and powers become found levels, characters and powers. Pre-programmed codes allow you to unleash the fury instantly and easily. Future codes are simply added through the menu driven controls. OK, maybe you knew all that, but did you know that we have a GameShark™ for Game Boy® and Game Boy pocket®, with built in hacking software? Did you know that we also have a GameShark™ coming out for PC? Well, now you know.

Barracuda 2™

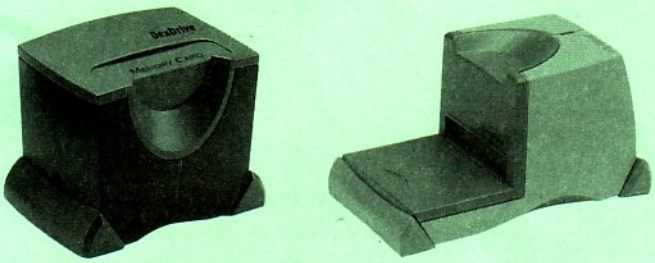
PlayStation

The first Barracuda™ was pretty vicious. This one is just downright voracious. We added Dual Vibration to this Dual Analog controller and came up with something amazing. You can program this monster and kick in the simulated analog to enjoy the sticks with any type of game. Remember, if it shakes more than twice, you're playing with it!

MultiPlayer Adapter™

PlayStation

There are some wicked fighting games on their way to the PlayStation®. This is relevant here because some of the hottest titles are going to feature 4-player simultaneous fighting. You'll of course want to hook up with the MultiPlayer Adapter for sports games as well. If you have friends and a PlayStation®, there's no excuse for not having multi-player capabilities.



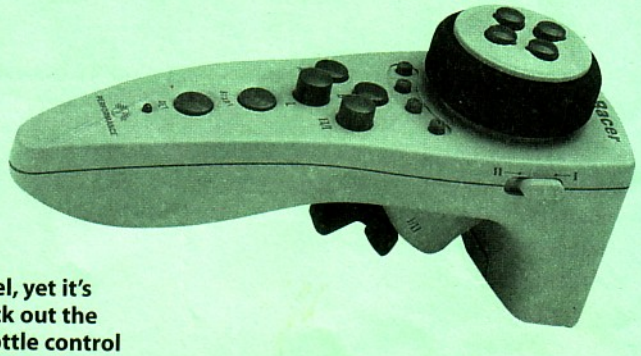
DexDrive™
Nintendo 64 and PlayStation
By connecting the DexDrive to your PC, you now have the most immense memory card available anywhere... your hard drive. If you're the generous type, you can e-mail your game saves or post them on the Internet. If you're the greedy type (which is good here), you can load up on everyone else's achievements for your own agenda. Give. Receive. Advance. Dominate.

TremorPak Plus™
Nintendo 64
Feel those funky vibrations while you save your progress. With one of these plugged into the back of your controller, you don't need to hot-swap! The memory card plugs into the TremorPak that plugs into the controller. See how it makes a lot of sense to use one of these? A bonus memory card is included with the TremorPak Plus.

SharkBytes™
Available for Select games for PlayStation, Nintendo 64
Once again, we're elevating your gameplay and giving you a little more power over the competition. This time, the power comes in the form of a memory card with the good stuff already packed inside. Each SharkByte comes packed with unique game saves for a currently hot title. We already have SharkBytes for Quest 64 and Mortal Kombat 4. Look for SharkBytes for: Tomb Raider 3, NFL Blitz, Tenchu and Metal Gear Solid to be released simultaneously with these incredible games. SharkBytes™ are all licensed by the respective game publishers.

MK3

SharkPad Pro 64² ™
Nintendo 64
We took the original SharkPad™ and minimized the appendages, but we kept the auto-fire and groovy clear skin. We got rid of the handles that you don't need in your life right now. The comfort level makes this is the N64® controller to have. Licensed by Nintendo®.



UltraRacer™
Nintendo 64, PlayStation, PC
Picture a device with all the control of a steering wheel, yet it's hand-held. Rather than conjuring up that image, check out the picture of the UltraRacer we've provided. Analog throttle control trigger and analog steering will send you on your way to the victory lap. More Control, Less Controller.
